Welcoming Message

President of ASAD

On behalf of the Executive Committee and Advisors of the Asian Society Against Dementia, I warmly invite you to join us for the 17th International Conference of ASAD which is held in conjunction with The Continuing Medical Education on Neurology (COME ON) Indonesia 2023, at Bandung from 28th to 30th September 2023.

The objectives of ASAD are to promote and encourage the advancement of scientific knowledge through research and practice in all aspects of dementia, as well as the exchange and dissemination of this knowledge and expertise throughout Asia.

This has been achieved in annual conferences which have been held in different parts of Asia since the first such meeting in Chennai in 2007. It is a great pleasure to return to Indonesia as the conference was held at Bali in 2010.

After many disappointments, it is wonderful to have recent convincing clinical trial evidence of an effective and relatively safe disease modifying treatment for early Alzheimer's Dementia, which included Asian subjects. This give us all renewed hope that more advances for our patients and their families may come in the near future.

These and many other topics will be part of this exciting conference and I hope that we can meet together soon!

Organizing Committee

On behalf of the Organizing Committee of ASAD, We cordially invite you to the 17th International Congress of Asian Society Against Dementia (ASAD), which will be held in conjunction with The Continuing Medical Education on Neurology (COME ON) Indonesia, at Bandung from 28th to 30th September 2023.

This year ASAD's Congress holds the theme of Leveraging recent advanced technology and disease-modifying agents for a better dementia treatment outcome. This three-day in-person meeting provides a perfect platform for interaction among neurologists, psychiatrists, geriatricians, experts, and research fellows from our national and world-class institutions, accelerating scientific discoveries in cognitive impairment and dementia.

Interactive symposiums, unique case presentations, young researcher forums, poster presentations, and awards will be an exciting learning experience for all participants.

Welcome to Bandung, a place called "Paris Van Java," a city with fantastic weather and rich culinary, cultural, and recreational tourism. It is an exciting place to visit in Indonesia.

We look forward to seeing you in Bandung

Poster Award Rules

The poster presentation will be conducted in person. Three awardees will be selected based on experts' scores. Names of awardees will be announced at the closing of the ASAD conference, and each will receive award certificates and prizes (1st place: USD 300; 2nd place: USD 200; 3rd place USD 100). The fourth and fifth winners will be awarded if suitable candidates are selected. If there are no qualified candidates, some or all unfilled spots may be vacated. Those who get the young researcher award won't attend the poster award simultaneously.

Eligibility & award rules for the Young Investigator Award of the 17th International Congress of Asian Society Against Dementia (17th ASAD)

Background:

The Young Investigator Award encouraged early-career researchers to engage in dementia-related research.

Eligibility and Requirements:

This award is granted to young investigators who are early career researchers aged 45 or under at the time of application.

Award Rules:

- Applicants for the Young Investigator Awards must submit a brief CV and an abstract of their dementia-related research to the 17th ASAD via the conference website. No proprietary or confidential information should be included in the application.
- The candidates will be judged by experts in two stages. In the first stage, the experts will review the abstract submissions and select the best ten, and the remainder will be scheduled and informed via email as contestants in the poster presentation. In the second stage, the selected candidates (young researchers) will be invited to give an oral presentation in English during the Young Researcher session at the 17th ASAD conference.
- The presentation will be conducted in person.
- All presenters will receive a certificate of appreciation at the end of the session.
- Three awardees will be selected based on experts' scores. Awardees will be announced at the end of the conference, and each will receive award certificates and prizes (1st place: USD 500; 2nd place: USD 300; 3rd place: USD 200).
- If there are no suitable candidates, some or all unfilled spots may be vacated.
